Technical exchange is an important element of professional development. In the Middle East, and specially in the Gulf Region, automation technical exchange events take place sporadically and at limited scale. The ISA Automation Conference and Exhibition 2015 (Europe, Middle East, Africa) aims to be a full scale conference and trade show that will bring various parties involved in the field of process automation and safety under one roof. The program will be a unique opportunity for networking, learning and expanding business opportunities.
